The Assumption of the Virgin and the Saints Julian and Miniato, by Andrea del Castagno (ca. 1421-1457)/De Agostini Picture Library/Bridgeman Images

The Assumption of the Virgin and the Saints Julian and Miniato by Andrea del Castagno (ca.1421-1457)

Although the scriptures do not relate the details surrounding Mary's final days, the tradition that Christ's mother was assumed bodily into heaven dates to the early Christian era. The miraculous event known as The Assumption of the Virgin features in Italian art from at least the fourteenth-century. Often, as we see here, the scene includes saints, in this case St Miniato at the viewer's left and Julian at right, as timeless witnesses. The flame-coloured clouds within this giant halo-like shape suggest the Virgin's departure from her earthly-life. The Virgin leads the viewer's gaze heaven-ward. While her expansive figure, emphasized by the pyramidal blue cloak extends expansively in space around her, with a fluid movement the Virgin lifts her face to where we imagine Christ waits to welcome her. This morning we celebrated this beautiful Feast day with Mass in our church.

What an amazing week we have had here at Sacred Heart. From the Athletics Carnival to the Fiver for a Farmer to Bookweek. There has been many celebrations of learnings and achievements and thanks are due to many involved. Firstly to the families who so generously donated to Fiver for a Farmer appeal, over $2300 was raised by our community.

Secondly to the numerous volunteers and teachers especially Mrs Munro for her organisation of our Annual Athletics Carnival, congratulations to Keenan.

Finally thank you to Mrs Harrison and her team of helpers for the organisation of Bookweek. The parade is an event on Friday not to be missed!

In June last term there was a meeting of an advisory group to review the Behaviour Support Guidelines and Procedures for students at Sacred Heart. A draft document has been placed on our school website. One recommendation from the advisory group was for a flow chart of the process. This is being developed and will include some examples of major and minor inappropriate behaviours.

Kind regards

Suellen Garey

Curriculum News

Most good spellers aren't born; they are made.

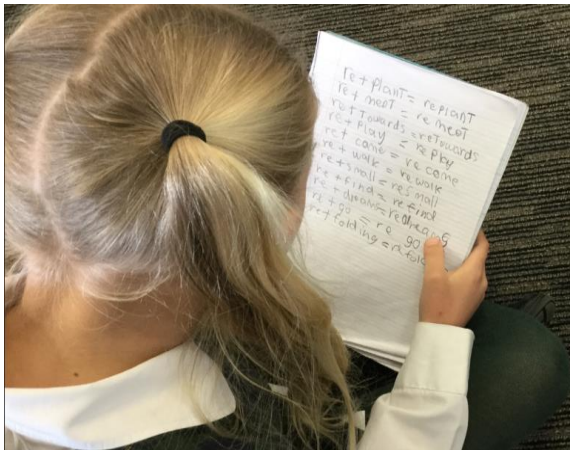

This week we warmly welcomed Sarah Kennedy CSO Literacy consultant to work with our teachers and some students to further develop our effective spelling strategies. The students participated in shared reading tasks that fed into spelling activities that focused on sound, visual- focusing on how words look, meaning – thinking about word meaning, connecting – making connections with other words and checking – using resources to find the correct spelling. Sarah will be back next Monday to continue this experience with other classes.

Good spellers are simply those people who learn the five key effective spelling strategies and apply them on a routine basis. We can all be good spellers!

Five key spelling strategies

 SOUND STRATEGY You can write some words by thinking about the sounds you can hear in the word.	 VISUAL STRATEGY You can write some words by thinking about the way the word looks or by thinking about the letter patterns.
 MEANING STRATEGY You can write some words by thinking about the structure of words and their meaning.	 CONNECTING STRATEGY You can use what you know about one word to work out a new word.
 CHECKING STRATEGY People, books, charts and computers can help you to check your spelling.

Book Week

SACRED HEART BOOK WEEK CELEBRATIONS

Book Week has finally arrived and our Library is looking wonderful with so many posters and books on display.

Please drop in to see how enthusiastic our students have been and to browse the books on offer for purchase. Parents are welcome before and after school and the children may come during morning tea and lunch.

Purchases can be made via cash, EFTPOS or via the on-line link: <http://parentpayments.scholastic.com.au/BookFairs>

If you can spare an hour or so to assist in our Library this week, we would love to see you – as would your children!

Finally, our long-awaited book parade will be held this Friday following assembly. Don't forget to dress up as your favourite character from a book or embrace the Theme, "Find Your Treasure". We always look forward to seeing the imagination (and hardwork) put in to each and every costume. You may like to dress up as a group – it's always fun to have friends together in the same theme.
